

Introduction

The evolution of IT technology has been bringing about drastic changes in business environment, where requirements for employees have become more specialized and advanced. From the planning stage to operation, we provide comprehensive training services tailored to your specific business model through our years of experience in the field of human resource and organization development.

Global and Innovative Perspective

IP innovations inc. was founded by some of the members who opened the Cisco training market in Japan. Ever since, we have introduced various IT trainings from abroad, such as ISO 20000 training, SE Skills training etc. Currently, we are the only training provider of HP Networking trainings in Japan. We also help deploy foreign-developed training courses for foreign customers.

Global Affiliation

We are a member of an association consisting of leading IT education companies throughout the world, sharing resources and information for course deliveries.

We are also one of the start-up members of ASTD Japan.

Training Services

Human resource development is the key to corporate success. From the planning and preparation stage, through training operation, into follow-on support, we provide comprehensive learning services by combining our vast portfolio in a way that matches best to your specific requirement.

IT Training

Our best-in-class trainers offer a wide range of leading IT technology trainings and business skill trainings both in classroom and through online. In addition to the standardized training courses, we also provide customized trainings according to your specific requirement. Some of our trainers are authors of books on their specialized field. and we are an accredited training partner of most major IT companies.

Consultancy

With the changes in business environment, requirements for employees as "valuable asset" have become more specialized and advanced. It is now absolutely necessary to firmly define and orient the role of human resource in order to improve your corporate value and service quality. Through our consulting services, we work close to customers to find a way toward better human resource development strategy.

Training Related Services

Learning is done in a variety of ways, such as textbooks, manuals, e-learning content, etc. IP innovations helps create learning products that best suited for each learning requirement and facilitate learning process in the most efficient way.

Translation and Localization Service

Because most innovative IT technologies come from abroad in Japan, localization of training materials is indispensable part of IT trainings, and the quality of translation is critical for learning effectively. IP innovations provides quality translation service based on its IT-related knowledge and rich experiences in translation and localization field.

LMS deployment and e-Learning Content Development Service

IP innovations provides full-ranged e-learning related services, including deployment and management of LMS (Learning Management Service) platforms, development of customized e-learning content, and localization of e-learning content. Our LMS services cover the whole process of consulting, implementation, and operation for major LMS tools such as SumTotal's TotalLMS or Fujitsu Internet Navigware.

Business Process Outsourcing Service for Human Resource Departments

In addition to the training consulting and execution, we also provide training administration and management outsourcing service for corporate human resource department. It includes attendance checking, progress and achievement management of attendees, evaluation and feedback of training results, etc., and helps ease the workload of corporate training departments.

Various Forms of Training

Classroom Training

In addition to off-site classrooms, we have classrooms in our office, which allows close contact to our staff members.

E-learning Training

Our e-learning development team has rich experiences in creating e-learning content, which enables us to provide various e-learning based trainings.

Online Training

We also offer virtual live learning services through various tools such as WebEX, a cost saving way which eliminates travelling or other expenses.
